

NEW-YORK TRIBUNE

CITY ITEM.

WEDNESDAY, July 7.

The French-Americans of this morning publishes a communication with the signature of "Many Frenchmen" to the effect that a general meeting of the French in New York will take place at the Howard house in Broadway this (Thursday) Evening to consider the propriety of a public testimonial on the part of our French population to M. VAPPENARE. At the same time a Committee will be appointed to arrange the celebration of the 29th of July.

Fire.—A fire was discovered about 12 o'clock last night in the store No. 216 Broadway at which was extinguished with trifling damage.

DROWNED.—John Richardson, 2d mate of the packet ship Zurich, fell from the ship while lying at quarantine and was drowned.

THE HARLEM RAILROAD.—We have had many occasions to notice the outrageous conduct of the agents of this road. The following from a gentleman of the highest responsibility details a case more intolerable than usual:

"Mr. Editor—I wish to expose another outrage committed by the agents of this road, which calls for public rebuke. I was one of many who visited the terminus of the railroad, and was left with more than fifty dollars at White Plains over night for want of room in the evening train. We had purchased our tickets at Croton Falls, and, though it was to be thought impossible to the City, which we could not get, we were sent to the station conductor of the 7 o'clock morning train, whose pay was demanded. Instead of taking our tickets Mr. Smith persisted in our paying a second time, because we had bought our tickets of another agent, and lost our right to the first. This was a most impudent demand. He continued this abuse all the way up from White Plains to the City, of which more than a double share was poured upon the writer for his resistance to such outrageous conduct. Had he been instead of the railroad company paid the fare of fifty dollars which we intended to pay to the City on Monday evening, (see advertisement in Monday's Tribune) he would then have the extra expense to which they were subjected by being compelled to stop over night, they would have done no more than simple justice. A NEW-YORKEE."

Police.—Officer William H. Stephens of the lower Police Court yesterday arrested Robert G. Darling, charged with obtaining $150 from Elsie Conover by false pretences. He was detained in remand.

The man, who was D. W. Bailey & Co., was robust, May 8th, night of several gas-cocks, an engine pipe an exhaust pipe, &c. all copper, valued at $90, with which the thief escaped.... James Ferry was last night arrested by officer Wandell, of the Eleventh Ward, charged with robbing a man charged with felony.

Saint Louis.—Just as the Simon K. Sabine, having a very large number of passengers, in cluding many delegates to the Chicago Convention, was leaving the wharf at St. Louis, a serious calamity occurred. There was it supposed a saw in the stand which connected the two parts of the way, causing a large quantity of steam and boiling water to burst from it. Two of the deck passengers and one of the hands of the boat were within its range, and the former were dreadfully scalded. It is hardly possible that either of them can survive.

The son of one of the sufferers—a boy—presented a most melancholy spectacle. On the person of one of the sufferers was found a very considerable amount of money, which was deposited for safe keeping with P. Chouteau, Jr. & Co. Both of the victims were Germans. The third person had his hands seriously burned.

The expansion of course, created great confusion among the passengers on the dock. In the consternation of the moment—a man—and some persons say two—jumped into the water and drowned. A woman, with her child in her arms, attempted to jump from the stern of the boat into the yawl, but failed to do so. The child was drowned, the mother was picked up by a boat below and saved.

Fire at New-York.—Last evening, in the close of the fireworks on the Park, a fire broke out in the back part of the building of the Central Hotel and the whole building was soon in flames. The loft over the store was occupied by Messrs. Osborn & Baldwin of the Register as an editorial room, and contained their papers, books, files, bound volumes, &c. Some of the papers were written in the hand of Dr. W. C. Bryant, and the Register was published by him. The account books were, however, in the care of his professional historian, Dr. George L. Clark, and the Register was sold to him. The building, which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon, was not insured.

Daughter Seduced.—Her father and brother severely murdered.—A most brutal murder of a father and his son, was perpetrated at Pine Bluff, Arkansas, by a Dr. Emory, upon the bodies of Dr. John Lewis and his son, Dr. Lewis Emory. The father was a family physician of Dr. M. W. Baauw, and his professional historian induced the daughter of Dr. Baauw. When the condition of the daughter prompted her to disengage herself from the seducer, he shot her in the head, and remained uninjured. The goods of Mr. W. were either wholly consumed or so nearly so in connection with the water thrown upon them, as to render them entirely valueless. Mr. W. was compelled to pay $1000, the building—which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon—was not insured.

Daughter Seduced.—Her father and brother severely murdered.—A most brutal murder of a father and his son, was perpetrated at Pine Bluff, Arkansas, by a Dr. Emory, upon the bodies of Dr. John Lewis and his son, Dr. Lewis Emory. The father was a family physician of Dr. M. W. Baauw, and his professional historian induced the daughter of Dr. Baauw. When the condition of the daughter prompted her to disengage herself from the seducer, he shot her in the head, and remained uninjured. The goods of Mr. W. were either wholly consumed or so nearly so in connection with the water thrown upon them, as to render them entirely valueless. Mr. W. was compelled to pay $1000, the building—which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon—was not insured.

Daughter Seduced.—Her father and brother severely murdered.—A most brutal murder of a father and his son, was perpetrated at Pine Bluff, Arkansas, by a Dr. Emory, upon the bodies of Dr. John Lewis and his son, Dr. Lewis Emory. The father was a family physician of Dr. M. W. Baauw, and his professional historian induced the daughter of Dr. Baauw. When the condition of the daughter prompted her to disengage herself from the seducer, he shot her in the head, and remained uninjured. The goods of Mr. W. were either wholly consumed or so nearly so in connection with the water thrown upon them, as to render them entirely valueless. Mr. W. was compelled to pay $1000, the building—which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon—was not insured.

Daughter Seduced.—Her father and brother severely murdered.—A most brutal murder of a father and his son, was perpetrated at Pine Bluff, Arkansas, by a Dr. Emory, upon the bodies of Dr. John Lewis and his son, Dr. Lewis Emory. The father was a family physician of Dr. M. W. Baauw, and his professional historian induced the daughter of Dr. Baauw. When the condition of the daughter prompted her to disengage herself from the seducer, he shot her in the head, and remained uninjured. The goods of Mr. W. were either wholly consumed or so nearly so in connection with the water thrown upon them, as to render them entirely valueless. Mr. W. was compelled to pay $1000, the building—which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon—was not insured.

Hospital.—Last evening, in the close of the fireworks on the Park, a fire broke out in the back part of the building of the Central Hotel and the whole building was soon in flames. The loft over the store was occupied by Messrs. Osborn & Baldwin of the Register as an editorial room, and contained their papers, books, files, bound volumes, &c. Some of the papers were written in the hand of Dr. W. C. Bryant, and the Register was published by him. The account books were, however, in the care of his professional historian, Dr. George L. Clark, and the Register was sold to him. The building, which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon, was not insured.

Daughter Seduced.—Her father and brother severely murdered.

Hospital.—Last evening, in the close of the fireworks on the Park, a fire broke out in the back part of the building of the Central Hotel and the whole building was soon in flames. The loft over the store was occupied by Messrs. Osborn & Baldwin of the Register as an editorial room, and contained their papers, books, files, bound volumes, &c. Some of the papers were written in the hand of Dr. W. C. Bryant, and the Register was published by him. The account books were, however, in the care of his professional historian, Dr. George L. Clark, and the Register was sold to him. The building, which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon, was not insured.

Hospital.—Last evening, in the close of the fireworks on the Park, a fire broke out in the back part of the building of the Central Hotel and the whole building was soon in flames. The loft over the store was occupied by Messrs. Osborn & Baldwin of the Register as an editorial room, and contained their papers, books, files, bound volumes, &c. Some of the papers were written in the hand of Dr. W. C. Bryant, and the Register was published by him. The account books were, however, in the care of his professional historian, Dr. George L. Clark, and the Register was sold to him. The building, which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon, was not insured.

Hospital.—Last evening, in the close of the fireworks on the Park, a fire broke out in the back part of the building of the Central Hotel and the whole building was soon in flames. The loft over the store was occupied by Messrs. Osborn & Baldwin of the Register as an editorial room, and contained their papers, books, files, bound volumes, &c. Some of the papers were written in the hand of Dr. W. C. Bryant, and the Register was published by him. The account books were, however, in the care of his professional historian, Dr. George L. Clark, and the Register was sold to him. The building, which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon, was not insured.

Hospital.—Last evening, in the close of the fireworks on the Park, a fire broke out in the back part of the building of the Central Hotel and the whole building was soon in flames. The loft over the store was occupied by Messrs. Osborn & Baldwin of the Register as an editorial room, and contained their papers, books, files, bound volumes, &c. Some of the papers were written in the hand of Dr. W. C. Bryant, and the Register was published by him. The account books were, however, in the care of his professional historian, Dr. George L. Clark, and the Register was sold to him. The building, which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon, was not insured.

Hospital.—Last evening, in the close of the fireworks on the Park, a fire broke out in the back part of the building of the Central Hotel and the whole building was soon in flames. The loft over the store was occupied by Messrs. Osborn & Baldwin of the Register as an editorial room, and contained their papers, books, files, bound volumes, &c. Some of the papers were written in the hand of Dr. W. C. Bryant, and the Register was published by him. The account books were, however, in the care of his professional historian, Dr. George L. Clark, and the Register was sold to him. The building, which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon, was not insured.

Hospital.—Last evening, in the close of the fireworks on the Park, a fire broke out in the back part of the building of the Central Hotel and the whole building was soon in flames. The loft over the store was occupied by Messrs. Osborn & Baldwin of the Register as an editorial room, and contained their papers, books, files, bound volumes, &c. Some of the papers were written in the hand of Dr. W. C. Bryant, and the Register was published by him. The account books were, however, in the care of his professional historian, Dr. George L. Clark, and the Register was sold to him. The building, which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon, was not insured.

Hospital.—Last evening, in the close of the fireworks on the Park, a fire broke out in the back part of the building of the Central Hotel and the whole building was soon in flames. The loft over the store was occupied by Messrs. Osborn & Baldwin of the Register as an editorial room, and contained their papers, books, files, bound volumes, &c. Some of the papers were written in the hand of Dr. W. C. Bryant, and the Register was published by him. The account books were, however, in the care of his professional historian, Dr. George L. Clark, and the Register was sold to him. The building, which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon, was not insured.

Hospital.—Last evening, in the close of the fireworks on the Park, a fire broke out in the back part of the building of the Central Hotel and the whole building was soon in flames. The loft over the store was occupied by Messrs. Osborn & Baldwin of the Register as an editorial room, and contained their papers, books, files, bound volumes, &c. Some of the papers were written in the hand of Dr. W. C. Bryant, and the Register was published by him. The account books were, however, in the care of his professional historian, Dr. George L. Clark, and the Register was sold to him. The building, which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon, was not insured.

Hospital.—Last evening, in the close of the fireworks on the Park, a fire broke out in the back part of the building of the Central Hotel and the whole building was soon in flames. The loft over the store was occupied by Messrs. Osborn & Baldwin of the Register as an editorial room, and contained their papers, books, files, bound volumes, &c. Some of the papers were written in the hand of Dr. W. C. Bryant, and the Register was published by him. The account books were, however, in the care of his professional historian, Dr. George L. Clark, and the Register was sold to him. The building, which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon, was not insured.

Hospital.—Last evening, in the close of the fireworks on the Park, a fire broke out in the back part of the building of the Central Hotel and the whole building was soon in flames. The loft over the store was occupied by Messrs. Osborn & Baldwin of the Register as an editorial room, and contained their papers, books, files, bound volumes, &c. Some of the papers were written in the hand of Dr. W. C. Bryant, and the Register was published by him. The account books were, however, in the care of his professional historian, Dr. George L. Clark, and the Register was sold to him. The building, which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon, was not insured.

Hospital.—Last evening, in the close of the fireworks on the Park, a fire broke out in the back part of the building of the Central Hotel and the whole building was soon in flames. The loft over the store was occupied by Messrs. Osborn & Baldwin of the Register as an editorial room, and contained their papers, books, files, bound volumes, &c. Some of the papers were written in the hand of Dr. W. C. Bryant, and the Register was published by him. The account books were, however, in the care of his professional historian, Dr. George L. Clark, and the Register was sold to him. The building, which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon, was not insured.

Hospital.—Last evening, in the close of the fireworks on the Park, a fire broke out in the back part of the building of the Central Hotel and the whole building was soon in flames. The loft over the store was occupied by Messrs. Osborn & Baldwin of the Register as an editorial room, and contained their papers, books, files, bound volumes, &c. Some of the papers were written in the hand of Dr. W. C. Bryant, and the Register was published by him. The account books were, however, in the care of his professional historian, Dr. George L. Clark, and the Register was sold to him. The building, which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon, was not insured.

Hospital.—Last evening, in the close of the fireworks on the Park, a fire broke out in the back part of the building of the Central Hotel and the whole building was soon in flames. The loft over the store was occupied by Messrs. Osborn & Baldwin of the Register as an editorial room, and contained their papers, books, files, bound volumes, &c. Some of the papers were written in the hand of Dr. W. C. Bryant, and the Register was published by him. The account books were, however, in the care of his professional historian, Dr. George L. Clark, and the Register was sold to him. The building, which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon, was not insured.

Hospital.—Last evening, in the close of the fireworks on the Park, a fire broke out in the back part of the building of the Central Hotel and the whole building was soon in flames. The loft over the store was occupied by Messrs. Osborn & Baldwin of the Register as an editorial room, and contained their papers, books, files, bound volumes, &c. Some of the papers were written in the hand of Dr. W. C. Bryant, and the Register was published by him. The account books were, however, in the care of his professional historian, Dr. George L. Clark, and the Register was sold to him. The building, which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon, was not insured.

Hospital.—Last evening, in the close of the fireworks on the Park, a fire broke out in the back part of the building of the Central Hotel and the whole building was soon in flames. The loft over the store was occupied by Messrs. Osborn & Baldwin of the Register as an editorial room, and contained their papers, books, files, bound volumes, &c. Some of the papers were written in the hand of Dr. W. C. Bryant, and the Register was published by him. The account books were, however, in the care of his professional historian, Dr. George L. Clark, and the Register was sold to him. The building, which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon, was not insured.

Hospital.—Last evening, in the close of the fireworks on the Park, a fire broke out in the back part of the building of the Central Hotel and the whole building was soon in flames. The loft over the store was occupied by Messrs. Osborn & Baldwin of the Register as an editorial room, and contained their papers, books, files, bound volumes, &c. Some of the papers were written in the hand of Dr. W. C. Bryant, and the Register was published by him. The account books were, however, in the care of his professional historian, Dr. George L. Clark, and the Register was sold to him. The building, which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon, was not insured.

Hospital.—Last evening, in the close of the fireworks on the Park, a fire broke out in the back part of the building of the Central Hotel and the whole building was soon in flames. The loft over the store was occupied by Messrs. Osborn & Baldwin of the Register as an editorial room, and contained their papers, books, files, bound volumes, &c. Some of the papers were written in the hand of Dr. W. C. Bryant, and the Register was published by him. The account books were, however, in the care of his professional historian, Dr. George L. Clark, and the Register was sold to him. The building, which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon, was not insured.

Hospital.—Last evening, in the close of the fireworks on the Park, a fire broke out in the back part of the building of the Central Hotel and the whole building was soon in flames. The loft over the store was occupied by Messrs. Osborn & Baldwin of the Register as an editorial room, and contained their papers, books, files, bound volumes, &c. Some of the papers were written in the hand of Dr. W. C. Bryant, and the Register was published by him. The account books were, however, in the care of his professional historian, Dr. George L. Clark, and the Register was sold to him. The building, which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon, was not insured.

Hospital.—Last evening, in the close of the fireworks on the Park, a fire broke out in the back part of the building of the Central Hotel and the whole building was soon in flames. The loft over the store was occupied by Messrs. Osborn & Baldwin of the Register as an editorial room, and contained their papers, books, files, bound volumes, &c. Some of the papers were written in the hand of Dr. W. C. Bryant, and the Register was published by him. The account books were, however, in the care of his professional historian, Dr. George L. Clark, and the Register was sold to him. The building, which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon, was not insured.

Hospital.—Last evening, in the close of the fireworks on the Park, a fire broke out in the back part of the building of the Central Hotel and the whole building was soon in flames. The loft over the store was occupied by Messrs. Osborn & Baldwin of the Register as an editorial room, and contained their papers, books, files, bound volumes, &c. Some of the papers were written in the hand of Dr. W. C. Bryant, and the Register was published by him. The account books were, however, in the care of his professional historian, Dr. George L. Clark, and the Register was sold to him. The building, which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon, was not insured.

Hospital.—Last evening, in the close of the fireworks on the Park, a fire broke out in the back part of the building of the Central Hotel and the whole building was soon in flames. The loft over the store was occupied by Messrs. Osborn & Baldwin of the Register as an editorial room, and contained their papers, books, files, bound volumes, &c. Some of the papers were written in the hand of Dr. W. C. Bryant, and the Register was published by him. The account books were, however, in the care of his professional historian, Dr. George L. Clark, and the Register was sold to him. The building, which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon, was not insured.

Hospital.—Last evening, in the close of the fireworks on the Park, a fire broke out in the back part of the building of the Central Hotel and the whole building was soon in flames. The loft over the store was occupied by Messrs. Osborn & Baldwin of the Register as an editorial room, and contained their papers, books, files, bound volumes, &c. Some of the papers were written in the hand of Dr. W. C. Bryant, and the Register was published by him. The account books were, however, in the care of his professional historian, Dr. George L. Clark, and the Register was sold to him. The building, which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon, was not insured.

Hospital.—Last evening, in the close of the fireworks on the Park, a fire broke out in the back part of the building of the Central Hotel and the whole building was soon in flames. The loft over the store was occupied by Messrs. Osborn & Baldwin of the Register as an editorial room, and contained their papers, books, files, bound volumes, &c. Some of the papers were written in the hand of Dr. W. C. Bryant, and the Register was published by him. The account books were, however, in the care of his professional historian, Dr. George L. Clark, and the Register was sold to him. The building, which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon, was not insured.

Hospital.—Last evening, in the close of the fireworks on the Park, a fire broke out in the back part of the building of the Central Hotel and the whole building was soon in flames. The loft over the store was occupied by Messrs. Osborn & Baldwin of the Register as an editorial room, and contained their papers, books, files, bound volumes, &c. Some of the papers were written in the hand of Dr. W. C. Bryant, and the Register was published by him. The account books were, however, in the care of his professional historian, Dr. George L. Clark, and the Register was sold to him. The building, which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon, was not insured.

Hospital.—Last evening, in the close of the fireworks on the Park, a fire broke out in the back part of the building of the Central Hotel and the whole building was soon in flames. The loft over the store was occupied by Messrs. Osborn & Baldwin of the Register as an editorial room, and contained their papers, books, files, bound volumes, &c. Some of the papers were written in the hand of Dr. W. C. Bryant, and the Register was published by him. The account books were, however, in the care of his professional historian, Dr. George L. Clark, and the Register was sold to him. The building, which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon, was not insured.

Hospital.—Last evening, in the close of the fireworks on the Park, a fire broke out in the back part of the building of the Central Hotel and the whole building was soon in flames. The loft over the store was occupied by Messrs. Osborn & Baldwin of the Register as an editorial room, and contained their papers, books, files, bound volumes, &c. Some of the papers were written in the hand of Dr. W. C. Bryant, and the Register was published by him. The account books were, however, in the care of his professional historian, Dr. George L. Clark, and the Register was sold to him. The building, which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon, was not insured.

Hospital.—Last evening, in the close of the fireworks on the Park, a fire broke out in the back part of the building of the Central Hotel and the whole building was soon in flames. The loft over the store was occupied by Messrs. Osborn & Baldwin of the Register as an editorial room, and contained their papers, books, files, bound volumes, &c. Some of the papers were written in the hand of Dr. W. C. Bryant, and the Register was published by him. The account books were, however, in the care of his professional historian, Dr. George L. Clark, and the Register was sold to him. The building, which belonged to Miss Elizabeth Lyon, was not insured.

Hospital.—Last evening, in the close of the fireworks on the Park, a fire broke out in the back part of the building of the Central Hotel and the whole building was soon in flames. The loft over the store was occupied by Messrs. Osborn & Baldwin of the Register as an editorial room, and contained their papers,